

Stand Up To Racism • National day of action

REFUGEES WELCOME HERE

Saturday 12 September

This day of action has been called in response to the unfolding human tragedy across Europe as thousands of refugees flee war, persecution, torture and poverty. Thousands have lost their lives in the process or are living in appalling conditions as they struggle to find a safe haven.

Over 2,400 refugees have drowned in the Mediterranean already this year. The shocking picture of baby Aylan Kurdi washed up on a Turkish beach epitomizes the appalling humanitarian tragedy taking place. But the response of David Cameron and the government to this has been disgraceful.

On Monday 14 September Home Secretary Theresa May will meet with EU leaders to discuss the refugee crisis. We must learn the lessons of history and call on the government to take a humanitarian and compassionate response to refugees, and to meet its share of the responsibility for providing protection.

Let's send a strong message:
We say refugees are welcome here.

Local details:

Barnsley Demonstration and Rally

May Day Green

Saturday 12th
September 1pm

Called by Stand up to Racism, BARAC, Stop the War Coalition, Migrant Rights Network, War on Want, People's Assembly Against Austerity, Movement Against Xenophobia, Unite Against Fascism, Love Music Hate Racism and Black Out London

Stand Up To Racism • National day of action

REFUGEES WELCOME HERE

Saturday 12 September

This day of action has been called in response to the unfolding human tragedy across Europe as thousands of refugees flee war, persecution, torture and poverty. Thousands have lost their lives in the process or are living in appalling conditions as they struggle to find a safe haven.

Over 2,400 refugees have drowned in the Mediterranean already this year. The shocking picture of baby Aylan Kurdi washed up on a Turkish beach epitomizes the appalling humanitarian tragedy taking place. But the response of David Cameron and the government to this has been disgraceful.

On Monday 14 September Home Secretary Theresa May will meet with EU leaders to discuss the refugee crisis. We must learn the lessons of history and call on the government to take a humanitarian and compassionate response to refugees, and to meet its share of the responsibility for providing protection.

Let's send a strong message:
We say refugees are welcome here.

Local details:

Barnsley Demonstration and Rally

May Day Green

Saturday 12th
September 1pm

Called by Stand up to Racism, BARAC, Stop the War Coalition, Migrant Rights Network, War on Want, People's Assembly Against Austerity, Movement Against Xenophobia, Unite Against Fascism, Love Music Hate Racism and Black Out London